GREY MATTER COUNSEL

This session introduced analogy type of questions. You seem to have got many of them wrong. A helpful procedure for tackling analogy questions, granting that you know the words could be as below:

- Make a meaningful sentence using the lead words in the same order of appearance.
- Substitute the pairs in each choice in the same order and see if the sentence make sense.
- If this does not work, make different lead sentence which takes into account broader meaning of the two words and continue your plug in tests.

In analogy question, HERO : DAUNT. You can form a sentence: "A hero cannot be daunted". You have the following choices: scholar : teach, saint : tempt, villain : torment, romance : elevate, student : study.~n Correct Answer is => saint : tempt~n The choice you selected is => villain : torment. ('A saint cannot be tempted' fits the best and hence the answer!!). Try to use this tip for Analogy questions in the future. Use this logic and validate for some of the questions that you got incorrect.

Revise the words learned using the word bank feature. Make use of this features, even though you may think you know the word. This feature is carefully designed to make you understand the word from different perspectives. This will help you get a good score in GRE. Use Student Support feature if you have doubt in any of the questions.
